

MATLEN STARSLEY BAND

Rollin' Again

"It's the sound of musicians having fun and letting the music take over. In addition, it's a refreshing reminder that artists with more life experience have so much more to bring to the art of writing lyrics.

Matlen Starsley Band is a new musical project featuring former and current members of the Bryan Adams Band, The Ray Roper Project, Stonebolt, Touchdown, Straight Shooter and Fandango. These veteran rockers released their first album "Rollin' Again" July 12, 2019. The brand new single "Making Good Time" from their upcoming second album "Stronger" is now available. Their music is an eclectic mix of country, blues, guitar heavy Southern rock and roots music.

"We just wanted to get a group of accomplished players together to create some great music, and recapture some of the energy and passion that got us into the music business in the first place. No musical boundaries. We are letting the songs take us wherever they may lead and just letting the music speak for itself."

"The Matlen Starsley Band forge their own sound, flickering between timeless charm and modern energy in a seamless showing of skill. With so much talent behind them, it's no wonder that 'Rollin'Again' arrives as such a carefully cultivated and deeply moving album, offering something for everyone and proving beyond a doubt that the band has earned that 'super-group' title."

"...A big sound that is crisp and punchy while letting the band be itself. What you hear is a working band with polish. Not just live but lively."
